

Kikk, the Kin Pebble Game

Rules and Items Needed

Board with two lines of eighteen spaces on each side, and one space between the top holes, all evenly spaced (total thirty-seven playable spaces).

Two differently colored markers.

Two d6* dice. (*traditional six-sided die)

Play Instructions

Object Get to the top of the board, across, and back to the bottom first.

Played vertically. Markers of different color are placed on spaces on the board. The Kin traditionally played this game with pebbles that fit into holes on a wooden board, which had to be removed with claws. Each player starts at the bottom on the right side, and moves upward, to the left, and down.

Roll two dice to determine number of positions moved. Move the number of spaces indicated on the dice.

- Snake eyes (1/1) - lose a turn (no move).
- 2 sixes (6/6) - take another turn.
- 2 sixes twice in a row, start over at beginning.
- Landing on another player's spot requires the player already there to return to the beginning.

Kikk Markers

Cut out the markers below; use differently colored markers from other games, or buttons.
